Hi Seagrape Apothecary team,
I'm reaching out from Agroverse, where we specialize in ceremonial cacao sourced directly from sustainable farms with full traceability. I came across your shop and was impressed by the holistic wellness and metaphysical vibe you've cultivated in Portland. I believe our cacao could be a meaningful addition to your offerings.
I understand that every retailer has unique needs when it comes to stocking new products. Some prefer consignment to minimize upfront risk, while others opt for bulk or wholesale purchases for better margins. We're happy to work with you either way—whether you'd like to explore a consignment arrangement or place a direct order. I've attached a wholesale price list PDF with details on our SKUs and pricing tiers for your reference.
I also wanted to note that I'm aware you already carry your own cacao, and I respect the relationships you've built. If you're open to exploring how Agroverse's ceremonial cacao might complement your current selection, I'd love to hear your thoughts. Additionally, if your setup isn't aligned with consignment base sales or percentage splits, we can focus on a wholesale model that works for you.
Could you reply with what feels like the best next step—whether that's a quick call to discuss or just letting me know your preference on consignment vs. bulk? I'm all ears.
Thanks for your time,
Gary

Hi there,

Thanks so much for reaching out! We actually already have a supplier for ceremonial cacao but we'll be sure to keep your info on file in case we need it!

Warmly,
